PRESS RELEASE

Lorraine Pilgrim – presents – is a Contemporary Exhibition of paintings and drawings.

Venue: Deka, 111 McLachlan Street, Fortitude Valley.

Date: 10th February 2006 6 - 8 pm

Following a highly successful career spanning thirty five years in private art galleries and studios in Brisbane and the Gold Coast, Lorraine has now established her own on-line gallery through which she aims to provide astute clients with the benefits of her knowledge and experience and to identify and nurture the careers of new, young and emerging artists.

Artists include: Daniel Clemmett, Sam Creyton, Katy Ingram, Jennifer Lowrey, Kathy Mackey, Kirsten Reed, Mel Simpson, David Smith, and Yvette Swan.

The Deka team who's founding principal is excellence and who truly believe in and have always sponsored the arts, have joined forces with Lorraine Pilgrim to introduce and celebrate the first exhibition of her new stable.

One of the corner stones of Deka's design philosophy is embodied in the following excerpt. "Design must have art alongside it in order to live. There can be no design separate from painting, sculpture or graphic art. " A kettle is not just a kettle". Maija Isola 1977. The above sentiments sit so well with all of Lorraine's beliefs.

Jennifer Lowrey one of the young artists is a recent graduate of Griffith University, and has been chosen in this years "Fresh Cuts" exhibition IMA Brisbane.

David Smith, recent graduate Griffith University, was chosen for the 2005 Theiss Art Prize, and received a highly commended.

Mel Simpson – from the Gold Coast, Griffith University is already wowing the collectors and will be a good one to watch.

This will be an exciting exhibition and collaboration.

The exhibition is to be officially opened by Dr Stuart Collins.
